Metz s History and Reminiscences of Schuyler County, Illinois But afterwards Leven Green, Thos. Blair and Benjamin Chadsey were appointed by the General Assembly to select a new location, and on the 20th day of February, 1826, a little over fifty years ago, they selected the present site of Rushville as the seat of justice, and called it Rushton (after an eminent physician in Philadelphia), which is the southwest quarter of section 80 in township two north range one west, and on April 24th, 1826, the County Commissioners ordered the range of the county seat changed from Rushton to Rushville. Thomas Blair, Samuel McKee and Samuel Horney were the first County Commissioners. The first town lots in Rushville were sold July 4th, 1826, and it was ordered that the notice of the same be published in the Edwardsville Spectator. J. D. Manlove was the first Surveyor of the county, Orris McCartney the first Sheriff, J. D. Terry the first Recorder and Circuit Clerk, Willis O Neil the first Treasurer, and Major Harl. Fellows afterward held almost all the offices within the gift of the people at the same lime. The first court of record held in the county was presided over by Judge John York Sawyer, and was held in a little cabin belonging to Samuel Turner, at about where Pleasantview now stands. Right here we will refer to some of the noted personages who have lived, and some who still reside in Schuyler county. Judge T. Lyle Dickey, one of the Supreme Judges of the State, resided in this county in 1813-4. The lamented Senator W. A. Richardson was a resident of...
