Expedition Publishing, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 214 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .On January 12, 2010 a 7.0 magnitude earthquake rocked Port au Prince, Haiti leaving 220,000 dead and the remaining 86 to live in slum conditions. A month later 23 year old Abraham Clark set out to fulfill his dream of becoming the 15th person to run across America solo and unsupported. Now caught in the middle of young love and a world racing to raise funds to save the dying country his journey became much more than an escape from the chains of a post college career. Standing with his feet in the Pacific Ocean only time would reveal what the 2,960 mile road east would have in store. A legendary journey of love, death, manhood, humor and finding what it means to give more than you ever dreamt. Praise for running Water Running Water is an amazing look at Abe Clark s inspirational journey. At times it seemed the encounters and events Abe faced were a fabricated story, but this was no fiction story. I could not put it down, in fact the only time I did was to go train. Finished it in one day. Abe s odyssey across the country sheds light on all kinds of cultures across America and equally shines light on a great cause for an important and necessary primal need, Living Water International. I would recommend this book to anyone, readers and non-readers alike. Chris Solinsky - 8x Wisconsin high school state champion, 5x NCAA Division 1 champion, first non-African to break the 27-minute barrier in the 10,000 m setting the American record at 26:59.60 No one could truly know what it is like to accomplish something like Abe did unless...
