They not only levied a tax upon all vessels frequenting their port, but at last demanded contributions, considered as impious, from all those who passed through their territory in pilgrimages to Delphi. In consequence of these extortions, the Council of the Amphictyons sent to consult the Oracle: and it was decreed, that Crissa should be destroyed, and its inhabitants reduced to slavery; and that their territory should be left uncultivated, as a district sacred to Apollo, to Diana, to Latona, and to Minerva. A war ensued in consequence, which lasted ten years; when, after a long and bloody siege, the town was taken and entirely rased, and all the survivors found within its walls were sold as slaves. Crissa is mentioned by Pliny but not by Strabo: and this circumstance induced Larcher Chap. VI. to believe that the city was rebuilt within a . t-short time after Strabo s writings appeared³. Just before our arrival at Delphi, we had a view of the sea; appearing like a small lake, through an opening of the sides of the mountain, being a part of the Bay of Crissa. It was beginning to grow dark as we drew nigh to Castri, the name of a wretched village, now Castri. occupying the site of the sacred city; and the road was almost impassable. At length we saw this truly wonderful place, covering a lofty eminence upon the south side of the mountain, that is to say, upon our...
